I followed the link to your forum, and get the same error. So I go to your website, download you ISO, and unzip it. Downloaded the iso, downloaded the drivers, installed the. It installs successfully, and then starts and reports that there is a window that needs to be manually closed. Win XP says there are unsaved changes, but otherwise, it. I'm quite experienced in setting up devices like this, and I do have an install disk for this hard drive; I'm wondering why this isn't working. A: I'm not familiar with setting up the DVDRW drive on a MacBook (never owned a mac) but I know there is a utility called Roxio GoDVD which will help you burn an ISO to a disc. It worked for me on a Macbook Pro. Click the Roxio GoDVD button on the Roxio website Click the "browse" button and then select the ISO file that you want to burn Click the "burn" button It will then prompt you to insert a blank disc. When done, you can eject the CD/DVD drive and remove the disc. Here is another suggestion which is to download the Backup and Recovery Tool to your hard drive. It will allow you to create a Bootable Rescue Disc to recover your hard drive. The link to this tool is here. If you have any other questions, please ask. Q: Apache alias to network drive on LAN I'm trying to put this Apache script to work: Options -Indexes +FollowSymLinks +ExecCGI Order allow,deny Allow from all Deny from all Allow from localhost ErrorDocument 401 /error401.php And I have this line in the httpd.conf
